BLUE AND GRAY MEET AGAIN

A STORY OF THE FALL OF ARMISTEAD RECALLED

His Sword Returned by Veteran in Blue Into Whose Hands it Had Fallen.

The Blue and Gray have met for the third time at Gettysburg and the significance of the last meeting was strikingly unique and picturesquely bringing out as it were in bold relief one of the most thrilling inspirations of the great battle; an episode seemingly prophetic of a time when there was to be no Blue or Gray but a common brotherhood, a message of peace riding upon the flood tide of war.

This is the message of the fall of Armistead. The fall of a single individual in a civil war can mean little but his fall happened to be a type, personifying the very apotheosis of fraternal warfare.

For two hours cannon had belched death from Seminary and Cemetery ridge. It was the beginning of that last great effort to break the center of the Union line. Men had been aroused to the last great pitch of enthusiasm for the cause for which they fought. In their memories ran the tale of nearly three years of the hell of war. Now from Seminary ridge came Pickett's men headed for the Bloody Angle, defended by the Philadelphia Brigade. In the hearts of each burned the desire to overcome. Around them men felt minute by minute as they were overcome. As the tidal wave of the most gigantic struggle earth had ever witnessed swept on towards the Bloody Angle the so called stronger human passions burned to white heat in the hearts of the men of the two armies.

Cushing had run his last gun to the stone wall and as he gave the order for the last shot at close range received the first of four wounds in quick succession that left his body lifeless and mangled. Armistead at the moment was at the stone fence with his hat on his sword and springing to the fence cried to his men following "Give them the old steel." The desperate hand to hand fight was on, then a shot reached the fearless Armistead.

The man who a moment before had called for the old steel for the boys in Blue had no hate for Union for at the supreme moment of his life he turned to those boys in Blue with the Master Mason's cry of success for the son of a war. There were those in Blue who heard his appeal of brotherhood. Two of them threw down their guns and almost before his body was on the ground had the chicken Armistead in their arms and were carrying him to the rear. It was truly a prophetic picture that those who fought belonged to a brotherhood of an indissoluble union.

Michael Specht a sergeant of Co. K, 72nd Pa. Vol. was one of the boys to come to the succor of Armistead and into his hands when he had helped to carry him to the rear fell the sword of Armistead. After the battle Specht became an officer and the sword of his brother foe was worn as his own until the end of the war. This same veteran a year ago proposed a return of the sword upon the spot upon which Armistead fell. No relative of Armistead could be found to whom it could be presented. Pickett's Brigade was finally chosen to be the custodian of the sword. Sickened at the last moment prevented the attendance of Mr. Specht, so he delegated two of his comrades of the 72nd to deliver the sword.

The survivors of the Philadelphia Brigade and Pickett's Brigade were on the ground by last Saturday noon. There were about 400 in the entire party, including ladies, the blue outnumbering the Gray. Mrs. Pickett, her son Major Pickett, U. S. A. and her grandsons were the guests of honor.

Saturday afternoon the Blue and Gray met at the Bloody Angle. The two comrades of Michael Specht both of Philadelphia were on hand with the sword wrapped in a small silk American flag. Joseph McArthur made the address and Captain T. F. Longaker handed over the sword which was accepted by Captain T. E. Jeffers of Chase City, Va.

The incident closed with Mrs. Pickett telling the thrilling story of the fall of Cushing and Armistead.

Saturday evening a Reunion camp fire took place in the Court House. Mrs. Pickett occupied a post of honor at the side of the presiding officer, silver of hair and charm of face over which smile after smile blitted making a handsome picture.

The thought of the evening as expressed by Blue and Gray one after the other was voiced in the opening address of Major John D. Worman of Philadelphia who presided and said in part:

"This reunion of the Blue and Gray is one of the most remarkable meetings ever held upon any battlefield in the history of the world. No such reunion could be held by British and Boer veterans, by the soldiers of Russia and Japan or by those of France and Germany. Only here in the United States could former foes meet as friends, and even in our own country no other opposing forces of the Civil War could meet as Pickett's Division and the Philadelphia Brigade do at the "high water mark of rebellion," which distinction was effected by these two commands upon the historic field of Gettysburg.

Our country, now one in fact as well as in name as all of her people, rally in devotion to Old Glory, the Flag of our Union which is the symbol of a great nation and unity and the very completeness of our Union enables all who live under the Stars and Stripes to glory in the valor shown by the sons of the North and the sons of the South in the days that tried men's souls.

The full program was as follows:

Invocation—By Rev. Dr. T. C. Billheimer of Gettysburg.

Song—"My Country 'Tis of Thee," led by the choir of St. James Lutheran church, Gettysburg.

Address—By Major John D. Worman, Philadelphia Brigade.

Response—By Colonel William Miles 'ary, Pickett's Division.

Address—By Thomas L. Hicks, Esq., of Philadelphia.

Recitation—"Song of the Patriot," an original poem, written by Virginia Frazer Boyle, Memphis, Tenn.

Address—By Sergeant John W. Frazer, adjutant Philadelphia Brigade.

Response—By Sergeant Chas. T. Loeht, adjutant Pickett's Division.

Addresses, recitations, songs, etc., by Captains John E. Riley and Geo. S. Smith, of the Philadelphia Brigade.

H. S. Trout, Mayor of Roanoke, Col. S. W. Pauley of Virginia, J. Thompson Brown of Richmond, and others, closing with "The Star Spangled Banner," led by St. James Lutheran church choir.

Sunday morning and afternoon was spent upon the battlefield under guidance of Capt. J. T. Long. Monday morning the party took special train for Antietam. Visited that field and returned here for supper. Yesterday morning the party broke up leaving for their respective homes with memories of one of the most delightful reunions that ever took place here.

One of the features of the occasion that greatly pleased the visitors was the services held Sunday evening in the Memorial Church of the Prince of Peace. The church was crowded. Rev. True delivered a sermon on text "More than Conquerors," which was so appropriate and fitting to the occasion as to call forth many expressions of appreciation afterward. After the services Mrs. Pickett held a kind of reception.

Band Concert.

It looked like Carnival times in the old town last Saturday evening. The diamond was a mass of people enjoying the concert by Gettysburg's new band, to be known as the Citizen's Band, and between selection-chasing with one's neighbors and friends. The stand erected for Fienem's Week made it possible for the music to be heard at a greater distance and therefore enjoyed by more people. The program was practically new throughout. Many people were attracted from various parts of the county. It was an occasion which the town can't have too often, a big gathering of people enjoying good music.

Carbaugh—Henry.

On Sept. 1 at Arendtsville by Rev. D. T. Koser, Arlin L. Carbaugh of Franklin township and Miss Annie M. Henry of Cashtown.

KILLED HIMSELF WITH GUN

AFTER A YEAR'S ILLNESS CAUSING MELANCHOLY.

The Trigger Was Pulled by String Attached to Foot While Standing Near a Stone Pile.

Olivier Orner of Wrenksville, took his own life at his home, Thursday morning by shooting himself in the head with a rifle, pulling the trigger with a string attached to his foot, the shot plowing a furrow up the front of his face to his forehead, where it tore open the front of his skull. Orner had been melancholy for a year, sickness causing his condition. He would seldom talk and his family for some time have been afraid that he would do himself bodily harm. Thursday morning he was working in his fields and about 11 o'clock put his horse in the barn. His wife came down from the house shortly after and he at once asked her what she was doing there. She replied that she had only come down to get some potatoes. Thinking nothing more of his question she returned to the house. About a half hour later she heard the report of a gun and at once looked at the place where Orner's gun was usually kept. She found it gone and at once summoned her children and neighbors who instituted a search, the body being found about half an hour later behind a stone pile among brush where the deed had been committed. Orner was a carpenter by trade and had always lived at Wrenksville. He was highly thought of, industrious and a good neighbor. He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters, the oldest being married and living at Pittsburg, the other three living at home.

Benjamin Maiaun Miller, a well-known citizen of this county, residing at Bittling, died last Thursday, Sept. 13, at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. The news of his death came as a shock to his many friends for it was not known that his condition was serious. About 15 years ago he had been kicked by a mule and never fully recovered from the injury, though apparently enjoying good health. About two weeks ago this injury became aggravated and he was removed to Johns Hopkins Hospital for treatment. Death followed a surgical operation. He was aged about 50 years. He was a son of the well known citizen of Reading township, the late Samuel B. Miller, and lived many years at Hampton. He served as a Justice of the Peace at Hampton for several years. He then removed to Bittling Station where he conducted the lime business successfully being engaged, in same at time of his death. He enjoyed the esteem and confidence of a wide circle of acquaintances. The funeral was held on last Saturday with interment at Mummert's Meeting House. He leaves a wife, one son Archie, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. M. D. Baschmar of near Littlestown, and Mrs. Edward Chronister of near Hampton. Three brothers and one sister survive. Bertram Miller of Baltimore, Oscar Miller of Thomasville, Howard Miller and Mrs. John Kime of New Oxford.

Mrs. Jesse Masemore died at the home of her daughter in Paradise township, York county, on Sept. 9, of apoplexy, at the good age of 55 years. Her husband passed away a few months ago. The funeral was held on Tuesday of last week. Revs. C. L. and D. H. Baker conducting the services with interment at Mummert's Meeting House. Deceased had been a loyal member of the Brethren church for many years. She leaves two sons and three daughters, Samuel Masemore and Eli Masemore of Littleton township, Mrs. Noah B. Sprinkle of East Berlin, Mrs. J. H. Trostle of Bernadon, and Mrs. John Bechtel of Paradise township, York county.

Pius C. Wolf, proprietor of the grist mill at Deep Run, near Union Mills, Md., died suddenly on Sept. 7, from catarrh of the stomach, aged about 70 years. The deceased at one time had been the miller at the O'Boyle mill near Mt. Rock, and also lived in McSherrystown for awhile. The funeral was on Monday of last week, services and interment at Silver Run. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. R. Nelson Koontz, of Union Mills. Two brothers and three sisters survive. E. A. Wolf of Salt Lake City, Utah, Abraham Wolf of Sharon, Md., Mrs. Samuel Gutelius of Littlestown, Mrs. Beniah Cassatt of Gettysburg, and Mrs. Ella Dehoff of Hanover.

Mrs. Eliza Ann Wolf, widow of the late Jere Wolf, a Civil War veteran, died in York on Sept. 7, aged 77 years, 10 months and 15 days. Funeral on Monday of last week with interment in Mt. Olivet Reformed cemetery, Abbotstown. She leaves four daughters, Mrs. Henry Arnold, Mrs. Fletcher Lapham, Mrs. Kirtz and Miss Irene Wolf, all of York. Two sisters survive, Misses Sarah and Marie Reigle, of same city.

Garret A. Baish was overcome from a stroke while painting the house of M. O. Brame near Idaville on Sept. 6, and died the same evening at the home of Mr. Brame. He lived near Aspers and was about 60 years old. The funeral was held on Sunday, Sept. 9, with interment in the Bendersville cemetery. He leaves a wife, four sons and one daughter.

George Newcomer died at his home in Franklin Grove, Lee county, Ill., Aug. 24, aged 65 years, 6 months and 19 days. He spent his early life in Hanover, went to Dayton, Ohio, in 1867, and ten years later to Franklin Grove. He leaves a wife, one son and one daughter. Three brothers and two sisters survive. B. F. Newcomer and Mrs. Franklin Jacobs of Franklin Grove, John Newcomer of Caldwell, Kansas, David McG. Newcomer of Hanover, and Mrs. Margaret Myers of New Oxford.

Mrs. Olivet B. Study, wife of Augustus Study of near Black's School House, Mountjoy township, died on Sept. 10 from hemorrhages, aged 27 years and 12 days. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hahn and leaves beside her husband, a young daughter and infant recently born.

Levi Gilbert died at his home near Seven Stars on Sept. 9, aged about 50 years. The funeral was held at St. Francis Xavier church on Tuesday morning of last week. Rev. Father T. J. Crotty conducting the services. He leaves one daughter and is survived by a sister, Mrs. Staub, of New Oxford.

Irvine Lindaman Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Myers of near Two Taverns, died on Sept. 9 from diphtheria, aged 9 years, 9 months and 8 days. The funeral was held on last Wednesday. Rev. C. P. Bastian conducting services with interment at Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns.

Noah Sell died at his home near Bart's Church in Union township Wednesday Sept. 12 of consumption, aged 54 years, 2 months and 7 days. He is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter.

James H. Brown of Baltimore died last Tuesday aged 53 years. Deceased, who was a son of the late Rev. James H. and Anna Brown of Baltimore, was well known in this vicinity, having lived in New Oxford for a number of years where he was engaged in the cigar business with F. M. Miller. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Hattie Boyd, one son and one daughter.

Veterinarians Meet.

The State Veterinary Medical Association held their semi-annual meeting in this place today, Wed. A number arrived on last evening's train and many more are expected this morning. With ladies the party will number over one hundred. They go over the battlefield this morning in charge of Capt. Long. They meet in session this afternoon in the court house. Dr. Leonard Pearson, State Veterinarian, will deliver an address on the "Vaccination of Cattle." The address will be one our farmers should hear. The present method of killing off the old cattle effected with tuberculosis was the first step in securing healthy cattle, the next one is going to be the vaccination of every calf. Dr. Pearson will give a most interesting talk on experiments along this line. The headquarters of the party will be at the City Hotel.

Chicken Stealing Halted.

Albert Wagaman was convicted of stealing chickens in Franklin county last week. His counsel wanted a light sentence but Judge Gillan said "In so far as this court can prevent it farmers of this county are not going to be the victims of chicken thieves. They have no protection from men who prow around and steal their property under cover of darkness," and remarking that prisoner had been convicted of a similar offense in Adams county he sentenced Wagaman to two years and 10 months in the penitentiary.

21st. Regt. Cavalry Reunion.

The 17th annual reunion of the Twenty-first Pennsylvania Cavalry Association, composed of civil war veterans who were members of companies organized in York, Adams and adjoining counties, will be held in York Wednesday, October 3. The business of the association including the election of officers will be held during the afternoon and a camp fire in the evening. Sheriff S. M. Mansfield is chairman of the committee arranging the gathering.

The Kind Musicians Buy.

Some people are satisfied with a very ordinary piano, because their players are not able to draw out the finest shades of expression even if the piano is capable of it. The real pianist, however, sees the wisdom of paying for a fine Weaver Piano, because it is capable of giving expression to the finest emotions of the professional performer.

WANTED.—A Catholic woman to be a working housekeeper for a priest in the country. Address all inquiries to the Compiler. 3131

ADAMS CO. S. S. CONVENTION

SEVENTH ANNUAL SESSION HELD IN FAIRFIELD.

Three Interesting Meetings—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year—Delegates Chosen, Speeches Made.

The Seventh Annual Convention of the Adams County Sunday School Association opened in the Lutheran Church of Fairfield last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The song service was led by W. G. Landes of Philadelphia, Secretary of the State Association. This was followed by Scripture reading by Rev. C. P. Bastian. After a hymn Rev. W. W. Hartman offered prayer.

Rev. S. P. Mauger, County President, held the Preparation Service. Rev. E. W. Stonebraker then cordially welcomed the convention. Mrs. Kennedy of Philadelphia opened the subject of "The Children and the Temperance Lesson" instead of Miss Coates, who could not be present.

Rev. W. G. Minnick of Barlow spoke on "Practical Things for the Sunday School to do for Temperance."

The evening session was opened with praise service led by Rev. Mauger. Rev. W. A. Yeisly of East Berlin offered prayer. E. R. Hoechst of East Berlin sang a solo, "Mother's Prayer." The Rev. Stanley Billheimer of York Springs followed with an address on "The Child Heart."

After the Rev. Mr. Billheimer's address a male sextette sang. The Rev. George Stibitz, Ph. D., of York then spoke on "The Teacher's High and Holy Calling." Mr. Landes followed the address of Rev. Dr. Stibitz with a short talk on the State Convention.

On Thursday morning Rev. Wm. L. Leisher conducted the morning praise service. After reading the Scripture lesson he gave a short talk.

Mr. Landes, secretary, said that Adams county was entitled to five delegates to the State Convention and that the full quota should be sent. These are the official members of the convention.

Mrs. Gise, Superintendent of the Primary Department, reported twenty-five Cradle Rolls, an increase of eighteen during the past year.

The next period was taken up with a business session in which were heard the reports of officers, Department Superintendents, District Presidents and Field Worker.

Hon. William McClean of Gettysburg addressed the convention on "The Sunday School as a Factor in Civic Righteousness." As a lawyer he referred to the old Justinian code summed up as Live Honorably, live honestly, hurt nobody. Render to all their due. The speaker closed by saying that he hoped the Sunday School would train patriotic citizens as well as Christians. Judge McClean referred to the fact that Fairfield was originally Millerstown, named after Mr. Miller, the founder. This tract of land was originally part of the Carroll tract and was ceded by the famous signer of the Declaration of Independence to Wm. Penn. It was well named Fairfield—beautiful for situation.

Thursday afternoon Rev. S. A. Diehl of Bendersville conducted the devotional exercises. The Rev. E. H. True explained the parade to be held the second day of the State Convention. The remaining reports of officers were read. Dr. W. S. Barnes then spoke on "The Teacher's Aim."

The constitution was then read by the secretary. The nominating committee was authorized to appoint five delegates to the State Convention. The treasurer read his report and the auditing committee approved it.

The nominating committee moved that they be discharged from the duty of nominating delegates. Upon the motion being carried the President appointed a committee of three to appoint delegates. Rev. W. W. Hartman, Rev. J. A. Clutz and F. H. Berwager.

The report of the nominating committee appointing the officers was read and approved. The report of the place and time committee was read and approved. The report of resolutions was read and adopted. It was moved, seconded and carried that the county raise their State appropriation from $25 to $50.

Thursday evening the praise service was led by the Rev. Mr. Dalzell. The Rev. W. W. Hartman spoke on "Our Unrealized Debt."

Dr. Clutz occupied the last period with a talk on "My Ideal Sunday School Teacher," after which the convention was closed.

The convention was opened in the Lutheran Church instead of the Reformed, owing to the fact that improvements to the Reformed Church were not completed, an invitation to hold the convention in the Lutheran Church being given and accepted.

The new officers were elected as follows:

President, Rev. W. W. Hartman, Gettysburg.
Vice-President, Rev. Chas. E. Snook, Gettysburg.
Rec. Secretary, Miss Hypatia Diller, York Springs.

Cor. Secretary, Miss Louise Stahl, Gettysburg.

Treasurer, P. T. Weaver, Gettysburg.
Primary Supt., Mrs. B. F. Gise, New Oxford.

Home Supt., Prof. W. A. Burgoon, Littlestown.

Normal Supt., Rev. W. L. Leisher, Idaville.

Delegates to State Convention were appointed, Rev. W. W. Hartman of Gettysburg, Mrs. Wm. Robert of Cashtown, Miss E. L. Wiernan of York Springs, Abba Smucker of Littlestown and John Jacobs of East Berlin.

The total registered attendance at convention was 95 with 41 schools represented.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, 1st, That the thanks of this convention be extended to the pastors and people of Fairfield for their kind reception and generous hospitality and beautiful decorations of their church.

Resolved, 2nd, That we express our appreciation of the special music rendered.

Resolved, 3rd, That we extend our heartfelt thanks to the State workers, to Mrs. Kennedy for her practical talks and helpful suggestions, to Mr. Landes for his contagious enthusiasm in speech and song, also to Mr. Berwager, the Field Worker, for his untiring labor and efforts in the interest of the Sunday Schools of the county during the past year.

Resolved, 4th, That we as a convention put forth our best efforts to advance the efficiency of the Sunday Schools, especially in teacher training. Rev. C. P. Bastian, Lillie Chritzman, Louise Stahl, J. H. Hershey, Mrs. A. E. Musselman.

The National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio, has recently installed one of their finest cash registers in the store of H. W. Trostel & Son. It is a very fine piece of machinery. It issues checks with all cash purchases and gives each customer a receipt for the amount purchased. The trade in general are pleased with the machine and congratulate Trostel & Son for their purchase.

H. P. Mark, our undertaker, was with the excursion to Baltimore last week.

Letter to W. H. Tipton Sr.

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: We shall feel obliged if you write us how you came-out on your first few jobs Devoe as to gallons expected and used.

Take job A. You made your price, expecting to use 25 gallons Devoe, and used 15. Job B. You expected to use 15 and used 10. And tell us what paint you had used before. Of course, you judge Devoe by what you have used before.

Here's how a few came-out. M. A. Thomas, painter, Lynchburg, Va., writes: My first job with Devoe, I estimated 37 gallons; it took 25. Since then I have used nothing else.

C. B. Edwards, Raleigh, N. C., had used 30 gallons paste paint on his house, and bought 30 gallons Devoe; A. E. Glenn, his painter, said it wouldn't be enough.

Had 16 gallons left. Mayor W. W. Carroll, Monticello, Florida, writes: Painter estimated 35 gallons for my house; took 20 gallons Devoe.

Gilmore & Davis Co. contractors and painters, Tallahassee, Florida, say 2 gallons Devoe spreads as far as 3 of any other paint they know, and covers better.

S. A. Bullard, painter, Sanford, Florida, estimated 50 gallons for Odd Fellows and Masonic Halls; they took 29 Devoe.

Jones & Rogers, Merkel, Texas, estimated 10 gallons Devoe for Mr. Pratt's house and bought 5 gallons for first coat. It painted two coats.

Erb-Springall Co., San Antonio, Texas, painted two houses same size for D. J. Woodward, one lead-and-oil, the other Devoe. Devoe cost $12 less for paint and labor.

Tom Masey's painter, Walnut Springs, Texas, estimated for his house 10 gallons Devoe; he had 4 left.

You see how it goes. Even the best painters can't guess little enough at first.

Yours truly

F. W. Devoe & Co.

Miss Lizzie Cashman has gone to Chambersburg to live with Mr. and Mrs. Cooley.

Rev. Albertson from Rouzerville, and Rev. Martin from Thurmont, Md., dined with your correspondent and family recently.

On Sunday August 25th, at the home of Jane Reese, the brides great-grandmother, Roy Pittenturf from Gettysburg and Florence Sampson were united in matrimony by Rev. Stonebraker of Fairfield in the presence of a few friends.

Mrs. Cora Martin and son, Glenn, who have been spending the last month or more with her parents Eph. Sanders and wife returned to her home at Fountain Dale last week.

Mrs. Wash Biesecker and Mrs. Daniel Kuhn from Cashown were the guests of Mrs. Wilson Hummelbaugh on last Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Hoffman is spending some time with friends in West Virginia.

Your correspondent and W. F. Watson also Lola Hummelbaugh attended the teachers meeting at Gettysburg in Brna Chapel on last Friday the 31st.

The latter has gone to Barlow where she began her school on last Monday.

Mrs. B. J. Carson and child from Shady Grove are visiting friends in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. David Smith and son are spending some time with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reese.

Mrs. Nettie Potts and child from Waynesboro, Franklin Co. were the guests of her parents Howard Sanders and family last week.

Birthday Party.

On Tuesday evening, September 4, a birthday surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Weaver in honor of Mr. Weaver's birthday. The evening was spent playing various games by young folks. The elder ones enjoyed a social chat. At a reasonable hour all were invited to the dining room where a table was laden with all the delicacies of the season to which all did ample justice.

At a late hour all departed to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Weaver many more such happy events. Those present were as follows: W. C. Weaver and wife, George Weaver and wife, Wm. Taylor and wife, John Starner and wife, Ezra Rice and wife, Wm. Brough and wife, Abraham Wenk and wife, Wm. Smith and wife, Charles Weaver and wife, Elias Hoffman, Frank Smith, Emma Weigle, Minnie Taylor, Mary Heiges, Miss Beard of Gettysburg, Ada Snyder, Mary Shepard, Annie Eppleman, Pluvia Eppleman, Nora Hartman, Edna Taylor, Tressie McCauslin, Sylvia Rice, Lizzie Black, Lottie McCauslin, Stella Shellaman, Jennie McBeth, Grace Rice, Buelah Warner, Edith Rexroth, Edith Starner, May Taylor, Helen Taylor, Lillian Weaver, Marvel Rice, Margie Brough, Eva Brough, Ira Weigle, Clayton Starner, Allen Sheely, Mervin Smith, Willis Weigle, Wm. Wenk, Clarence McCauslin, Aaron Taylor, Jerry Black, John Taylor, Wm. Cooley, Calvin McCauslin, Roy Adlesperger, Calvin Taylor, Earl Hartman, John E. Brough, Russel Weaver, Paul Weaver, Reynolds Heller.

A GUEST.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is the time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

Make a note now to get Ely's Cream Balm if you are troubled with nasal catarrh, hay fever or cold in the head. It is purifying and soothing to the sensitive membranes that line the air-passages. It is made to cure the disease, not to fool the patient by a short, deceptive relief. There is no cocaine nor mercury in it. Do not be talked into taking a substitute for Ely's Cream Balm. All druggists sell it. Price 50c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 59 Warren Street, New York.

ALLEMAN'S STORE NEWS

This is the season of the year when the housewife is looking for delicacies and "ready-to-serve" articles that will save the heat and discomfort of the cooking. It is not difficult for you to find such articles in our store, as well as the appetite-ticklers that delight the soul of the picnicker and camper, as we have made a special effort this season to purchase only goods that are guaranteed to be absolutely pure and free from all adulterations.

Olives

We have the choicest lot of Olives we ever had, and although Olives are advancing right along on account of scarcity of crops and increased demand, yet we are selling more than we ever did, which is due to the fact that we handle only the choicest grade, the Premier and Nabob brands. We have them from 15 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

Imported Sardines

We have something new in Norwegian Sardines in oil—smoked—which impart a most delicious flavor to them, unknown in plain Sardines in oil. Try a box at 15 cents and you cannot fail to be pleased.

Royal Mint Sauce

35 cents per bottle. All that is necessary in the use of this Sauce is to pour a spoonful or two into a glass of crushed ice, fill the glass with water and sweeten to taste, and you have a most delightful and healthful summer beverage.

Teas

Some one asked at our counter one day for "Iced Tea." We did not have any "Iced Tea" but we did not turn the customer away empty-handed. We sold him a package of one of our choice grades of Tea which we handle in 1-4 lb. and 1-2 lb. packages, any one of which will make a most delicious "Iced Tea." We handle only Chase & Sanborn's Choice Teas in tin boxes, sealed, which insures the customer all the flavor contained in the original package. Our customers who have tried these Teas do not ask us for "Loose Tea" any more and would not take it if we were to offer it to them.

Picnic Supplies

Now don't forget in ordering your Supplies for a Picnic or Camp that we have just what you want. A nice lot of National Biscuit package goods just fresh, 30c. worth for 25c., any size packages. Choice Pickles in bottles or by the dozen, Columbia River or Alaska Salmon, Peanut Butter, Fresh Cream Cheese, Imported and Domestic Sweetzer.

Bargains in Queensware Dept.

We are crowded for space on our second floor and must dispose of some of the more bulky articles, so we are offering all our Clothes Hampers, Sewing Baskets, Music Racks and Waste Paper Baskets at a reduction of 20 per cent. These are all new goods and this is a good opportunity to purchase any of these useful articles, as they are goods which rarely ever appear on our cut-price list.

Croquet Sets Reduced

We have a few that we do not want to carry over the season and we will give our customers this opportunity to purchase them at a remarkably low price. We only have a few sets and they will not stay with us long at the new price.

Dinner Ware

Reductions on a stock pattern of White and Gold Porcelain Dinner Ware. We have almost any piece needed for a Dinner assortment but as we do not intend to fill up the stock on this pattern we are selling it at a big reduction on account of being short a few pieces. We have a number of other bargains in this Department and always have something new and attractive.

FERTILIZERS

We are agents for Armour's Fertilizers. These goods are so well known that they need no recommendation.

POTATO DIGGERS

Buy a Potato Digger if you have a crop of potatoes. It will save you time in taking up your crop and "time is money," so you will more than save the price of the digger in time and labor saved.

CIDER MILLS

We have Cider Mills and Presses and Wine Presses. Call and see them and get our prices before buying elsewhere.

Also 2-Row Corn Cutters and Corn Binders.

A PRESENT FOR THE CHILDREN.—SCHOOL SUPPLIES

This year more than ever before we will be headquarters for School Supplies. Tablets, Pencils, Companions, Slates, Composition Books, Spelling Tablets, Book Bags, and everything the children need. We have a present here for every boy or girl who buys either 50c or 100c worth of School Supplies. Something useful. Special prices to School Boards.

SKIN ECZEMA IN WORST FORM

Black Splotches All Over Face—Produced Severe Itching—Year's Treatment by Physicians Did No Good and Became Despondent—Affected Parts Now Clear as Ever—Alabama Lady's

CURE BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black splotches all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of annoyance and suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of my town. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for the same for the length of one year, but the treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. Shortly afterwards, my husband is reading a copy of a weekly New York paper saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies. He purchased the entire outfit, and after using the contents of the first bottle of Cuticura Resolvent in connection with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, the breaking out entirely stopped. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every splotch was entirely gone and the affected parts were left as clear as ever. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago.

"The Cuticura Remedies not only cured me of that dreadful disease, eczema, but other complicated troubles as well, and I have been the means of others being cured of the same disease by the Cuticura Remedies, and I don't hesitate in saying that the Resolvent is the best blood medicine that the world has ever known." Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala.

Oct. 23, 1905. Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Soap, 25c. Ointment, 50c. Resolvent, 25c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per box of 60), may be had of all druggists. GORDON PLAYS BOSSES

Former Judge Arraigned Machine In Notification Speech.

REVIEWS POLITICAL CRIMES

Declares Machine Has Not Been Whipped Into Abdication, But Only Frightened, and Decisive Blow Must Be Struck.

Former Judge James Gay Gordon of Philadelphia, delivered the notification speech for the Democratic party to Lewis Emery, Jr., at the Pittsburg meeting. He said:

"We live in momentous times. Some of the profoundest problems of social life are in process of solution. Questions vitally affecting the well-being of the people and that a little more than a year ago were scarcely discernible above the political horizon are now being debated at every crossroads, on every platform and in the columns of every newspaper.

"Within the last twelvemonth a flood of light has been let in upon the methods and morals of the influences that control the capital of the country and the markets for the necessities of life.

"State and municipal governments have been laid bare in all the hideousness of corrupt deformity. The nation has staggered appalled at revelations of financial dishonesty, corporate oppression and governmental crimes that the boldest critics of our institutions had never suggested.

"Shame has covered this people as with a garment and we have bowed our heads in humiliation at the hissing derision of the nations.

"But the light of inquiry that revealed the disease disclosed also the cause of the malady. Every abuse, every oppression, every crime was found to be linked to a corrupt political machine that protected, if it did not engender it.

"No matter how remote the iniquities seemed on their surface from political connection, yet investigation showed that they ultimately rested on party bosses and party machines for support and protection.

Abandoned Wharves a Landmark.

"No locality and no political party had a monopoly of the infamy. From the turbid waters of the Missouri to the abandoned wharves of the Delaware—from Kansas to New York—from St. Louis to Philadelphia—the same unvarying lesson was taught:

"That public plunder has no politics and the corruptions of our financial and political institutions are united as by an umbilical cord with our party bosses and machines.

"Some may dispute the statement that the tariff is the mother of trusts, but in the light of recent revelations none will deny the proposition that the political boss is their godfather.

"It was with these revelations and this lesson before it that the Democratic party of Pennsylvania assembled in state convention last June.

"It had seen, moreover, what a free people will do when once thoroughly aroused to a sense of wrong and betrayal.

"It had seen the aggressive, ardent and impartial district attorney of St. Louis, Folk, elected to the governorship of Missouri, in spite of the Democratic machine, whose crimes he had unearthed and punished.

"It had seen another district attorney, ostracized by his party for his fearless administration of justice, appeal to the people as an independent candidate and carry the great metropolis of the nation over all factions and bosses.

"It had seen likewise, at the same election, the Tammany candidate for mayor barely escape defeat by methods of dubious honesty and legality.

THE LIGHT OF OTHER DAYS.

Not very many years ago alcohol was used for lighting in combination with other fluids under the name of "Camphene," but it suffered banishment because it was too dangerous.

Alcohol is generally harmful when taken in the form of medicine, especially to a delicate system.

Dr. Pierce's tissue-building and function-strengthening plan of treatment is following after Nature's plan.

He uses natural remedies that is native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in the most exact proportions.

Used as one of the active ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, BLACK CHERRYBARK specially exerts its influence in cases of lung and bronchial troubles, and this "discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The names of the medicinal ingredients of this world-famous remedy are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

"I have had such a wonderful experience with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that I do not hesitate to recommend it, believing it to be a wonderful medicine to build up the tissues of the system," writes Miss Bessie Brown, Secretary Emerson Literary Association, New Haven, Conn. "I was completely run-down by my health and stomach; had no appetite, slept badly, and was in a state of nervous collapse. I took twelve bottles in all, and each week knew that I was getting better and stronger, until finally I was as well and strong as I had ever been. I have the utmost faith and confidence in your medicine, and wish to thank you for my good health, which is a blessing to anyone."

For 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing, you can get a free copy of the "Common Sense Medical Advice," paper covers, or cloth-bound for 10 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" whenever a laxative is required.

If a Cow gave Butter

mankind would have to invent milk. Milk is Nature's emulsion—butter put in shape for digestion. Cod liver oil is extremely nourishing, but it has to be emulsified before we can digest it.

"Above all, it had seen in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania the Ginepro of corrupt boss government, an outraged Republican constituency that had voted for Roosevelt the year before by half a million majority, and its party state machine by nearly a hundred thousand.

Honest Citizens Redeemed City.

"In Philadelphia a fusion of honest citizens of all parties redeemed the city from a rapacious political organization, the most powerful, all-controlling and debased in the annals of municipal government.

"The Democratic party when it assembled in convention last June was therefore, confronted by an extraordinary condition of public affairs and a delicate and difficult problem.

"A great national party with a continued history of more than a hundred years, it would have been natural had it looked upon the disruption of its great political rival as an opportunity for a party advantage.

"There were those in the course of the party who sincerely entered into this view of political and public duty. They supported their advice by illustrations and arguments that were difficult to confute and that, in normal times, would have been prevailing.

"But these are not normal times, and a new issue is before the people of Pennsylvania, and new duties have devolved upon parties. The new issue is the destruction of the boss-governed political machines that have brought shame upon the nation and woes innumerable upon the people.

"The hope of the future lies first in the emancipation of parties from the thralldom of boss-controlled organizations. Reform will follow only when parties become responsive to the will of their voters.

"In Pennsylvania, more than any other state, this issue is emphasized. A protesting body of independent and patriotic Republicans emphasized it when, under the name of Lincoln Republicans, they placed a ticket of their own in the field in opposition to the Machine Republican nominees.

"This body of protesting Republican integrity arrayed itself upon a platform of principles that represent the urgent reforms earnestly demanded by honest men of all parties.

"Thus stood the Republican voters of Pennsylvania when the Democratic convention met. The old, unregenerate, guilty and convicted Machine, with its cohorts of disciplined dependents on the one side, and on the other the enthusiastic, ardent, honest but unorganized independent Republicans, seeking to save their party from the continued rule of the despot and their state from the continued shame of the spoiler.

"In this emergency what did the Democracy do? Rising to the highest duties of patriotism, putting behind it the promptings of selfishness, recognizing a common cause in the struggle for political freedom, it proclaimed a truce to partisanship and turned its united organization over to a common leadership in the war of emancipation from Machine serfdom.

"By this act of renunciation the Democracy established at once its sincerity and its greatness. The oldest party in the nation and destined probably to endure for many generations to come, it nevertheless has not hesitated for the accomplishment of a great immediate public good to fall behind the leadership of the youngest of all parties.

"Placing, therefore, at the head of its ticket the nominee of the Lincoln party for the office of chief executive of the state, the Democrats gave him three colleagues of highest character and eminent fitness to do battle at his side.

"By the command of the Democratic state convention, it devolves upon me to give those candidates formal notification of their nomination. This I do by announcing that you, Lewis Emery, Jr., Republican, are the Democratic nominee for governor, and you, Jeremiah S. Black, Democrat, are its nominee for Lieutenant governor, and you, William T. Cressy, Democrat, its nominee for auditor general, and you, John J. Green, Democrat, are its nominee for secretary of internal affairs.

The Democracy is fulfilling its mis-

PEOPLE DEMAND REFORM

"Farmer" Cressy's Ringing Address of Acceptance.

HE STANDS FOR "SQUARE DEAL"

The Fusion Candidate For Auditor General in the Fight For the Constitutional Rights of the People.

William T. Cressy, in accepting the Democratic-Lincoln Party nomination for auditor general, declared for reform in the most emphatic manner. He reviewed many of the changes the people demanded for years, but which were always denied them by the machine.

The action of some railroads in reducing their rate of fare, said Mr. Cressy, will have no bearing on the result at the polls in November. It will have no effect on the legislature of 1907, he added, declaring that the people will insist on the passage of two-cent rate legislation, the right of trolley companies to carry freight and the creation of a railroad commission.

Mr. Cressy's speech in full is as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Committee of Notification of the Democratic and Lincoln Republican State Conventions:

"Gentlemen—In accepting the nomination for the office of Auditor General I am deeply sensible of the responsibility which it involves.

"While I appreciate the honor conferred, I cannot fail to realize the fact that personal considerations did not influence the choice of your conventions, but rather the belief that the candidate whom it named would, in good faith and good conscience, endeavor to discharge every duty, however grave, imposed upon him along the lines of honest government and good citizenship which are being laid down, in no uncertain courses, in Pennsylvania today.

"The declarations of principles and reforms advocated by the several representative conventions of that great body of the people of Pennsylvania who are opposed to the existing conditions and methods of the administration of those offices of the state government still in the hands of the machine, meet my hearty endorsement, and are in line with my efforts in the last six legislatures of our state.

"These platforms mean to give back to the people their constitutional rights, which for 30 years or more have been shamefully trampled under foot by unscrupulous and defiant manipulators of a political machine run in the interests of predatory corporations.

"The result is a patch work system of laws for the benefit of the few at the expense of the many.

"In the Pennsylvania state government the auditor general's department is the business office of the state, and should be run on business principles. The reports, which are several years behind, should be promptly made. In no other department is the mighty financial growth and industrial advancement of the state so clearly manifested.

"The duties of the auditor general are very broad, and give him great power, which, if properly used, will save to the state thousands of dollars. In conjunction with the state treasurer, he collects and disburses annually over $20,000,000.

"What are the necessities of the state government which demand the production of such an immense revenue?

"There are always the expenses of the different departments of government, the care of charitable institutions, and the payments to counties for schools, roads and other purposes, and yet the annual average balance remaining in the state treasury exceeds $10,000,000.

"When the thoughtful citizen takes the time to inquire into the history of the revenue legislation of Pennsylvania, he will find that the cumbersome and expensive methods under which the state taxes are collected are patches upon a framework which was enacted nearly 100 years ago. And notwithstanding the totally changed conditions of today, the old vehicle is still driven recklessly, and it would be difficult to estimate the cost of the collection of state taxes, or explain the irrational methods that are used to disburse or invest the balances.

"It is a sound financial proposition that the government should not be a lender. It is also a common-sense proposition that it is a poor financial policy to exact taxes from the people and after deducting the cost of collecting them to repay them. Better permit them to remain with the people in the first instance.

"The man whose duty calls him to

AT ITALY'S GOLDEN GATE

ANCHORED IN THE BAY OF NAPLES.

Mrs. Dr. Richard Gives an Interesting Description of Happenings Before Going On Land.

We were prepared for our first entrance into the land of the South, when, during the night, we slipped from the stormy Atlantic with its white capped, dashing seas and limitless expanses, into the stiller waters of the Mediterranean. Though yet a thousand miles distant from our port, the whole scene changed. There was life on the shadowy coasts of Spain and Africa visible on either side; there were the playing dolphins and passing craft. The air was mild, the breezes gentle; the ship was clean and shining, washed free from all trace of high seas and rough weather. The crew-officers and men appeared clad in spotless white, and there was scarce a ripple at the vessel's prow. Then all day the sea spread out like a long breadth of pale blue satin, unbroken, only where the ship's course seemed to turn an edge of silver. A blue haze hung over us, and through it we watched the sun go down and the young moon and the evening star float out into the deepened blue of the night sky.

It was late afternoon on the third day on the Mediterranean that we stood outside the Bay of Naples waiting for our pilot. About us was the same calm sea, so still and blue that it seemed scarcely separate from the still blue atmosphere.

Vesuvius—a changed, peakless Vesuvius, now—seemed to rise out of it and hang in mid-air by a thin white string of smoke. Ischia, Capri and their neighboring islands seemed suspended in the sunlit expanse about us, half unreal, intangible and diaphanous. This trick of the atmosphere cast its glamour over the mainland with its sweeping crescent of city and towns, where one looked away to Sorrento and Castellamare; and even where the ashes of the great volcano were sifted down to the green fields. Light and distance lent a softening touch of beauty.

While absorbed in the view before us, a boat swung lazily alongside. A cable was let down, and up the vessel's side came a stalwart young man in white with a broad-brimmed panama hat pulled over his eyes. Hand over hand he went to the bridge-deck and our pilot was aboard.

But he was there only to point the ocean pilot where to place his vessel in the harbor—for Naples has no docks for ocean steamers—and each time a vessel arrives, a place is assigned her in the bay by the proper authorities.

Yet in another way, this pilot was to do us valiant service. Because of a slight case of illness on board, our steamer was held in quarantine for something more than two hours. The gang-plank was lowered to the water to take on a corps of quarantine officers, and as they went to and from official errands, we stood surrounded by a fleet of small boats.

First came the hotel boats with runners calling the names of their houses and soliciting custom, and no Gettysburg hack driver was ever more vociferous than were these boatmen. But our hotel accommodations were already engaged, and our porter had his fine little craft, which was gay with bright awnings, brought close under our lee-side. From there he called to our chief steward to know if his clientele was aboard, and having obtained an affirmative answer, he and his rowers sat kicking their heels over the side of the boat for two hours in placid contentment.

Following the hotel boats came others with fruits, flowers, vegetables, herbs, drinks of all sorts, harbor officials, "jackies" from men-of-war, and last of all a concert boat.

This last was a fishing boat, with but one seat in the center, and the musicians stood while playing with their strung instruments swung on their shoulders. The girl who sang also stood easily poised in the boat, rocked by the swell of passing steamers and jostled by neighboring craft, while she carried her repertoire of popular songs, and between the stanzas of "Adieu to Naples" and "Laurea Lucilla" she twirled her inverted parasol with a charmingly deft pirouette that never failed to catch the most careless eye flung on it.

The whole was a gay Neapolitan market scene transferred to the water. And gay indeed, it was, with the ink and gold of the setting sun flashing up at the last with illuminations scarcely seen but in Italy.

At first the market was a lively one. Wares went by the vessel's side and coins went down. The ship's steward and crew, remembering the distance yet to be made between Naples and Trieste, their final port, added to their culinary stores and indulged their individual tastes. But after a time, the laughter faded. Even the divers for coin, who gambled gasping and screaming about the ship, grew weary.

Then began the reign of the most persistent beggars and cries of small wares. There were shrieks of competition; hands waved in wild gestures, and other hands flung back swift motions of appeal or defiance. With reporting opportunity the languid Neapolitan becomes vivacious, and were it not that sea and sunshine and soft airs have stunted his throat the only musical sounds, the babble of voices about this water market would have been distracting. But the grace of quick and easy gesture, the appeal of large eyes, the softness of resonant voices lent a charm to the scene quite in keeping with the place and the hour.

But at length the vendors of petty wares and the most anxious of the beggars set foot on the suspended gang-plank, and in a moment more were swarming up the side of the ship. It is then that the stalwart harbor pilot and the athletic first mate take the situation in hand. Taking places at different points on the platforms of the swinging stairs, they lay strong decisive hands on the intruders, while their nimble tongues roll out an expressive volume of good Italian exhortation.

"Bendito! get back! I tell you. There is nothing for you here. The ladies and gentlemen don't want you. There is no service to be done here."

The wily beggar returns them a wealth of gesticulations and argument and springs nimbly up in the face of our able guardians. Instantly the hands of the pilot are on either shoulder, and after a fierce shaking, the intruder is flung backward to the bottom of the stairs.

We gave a gasp and a cry, expecting to see him fall broken and limp across the gunwale of a boat or sink senseless beneath the fleet of small craft. But no, he lands on his feet, upright on the narrow hanging platform at the foot of the stairs, and quite cheerfully and as a matter of course, begins to ascend again. Then the pilot braces a foot on either side of the swinging stairs and repeats the shaking and the downward plunge, while above him the first officer in his best operative tones, cries admonitions and warnings and adjurations which are only effectual when reinforced by sufficient muscular power.

How often while we stayed in the city beyond, did we long for the vehement "andare via" (go away) of the mate and the vigorous arm of the pilot!

All this time the ship's gig had hastened to and fro, the ship's physicians had gone up and down with the quarantine officials, and the captain had looked troubled. For an hour it had been whispered that we could not pass quarantine because of a case of sickness below. Even the Neapolitans in the small boats knew that we were being held in the harbor and were not allowed to land.

Tenders and hotel boats went out to an incoming Cunarder and returned while we lingered. At length a dark closely covered boat came alongside and stood at the foot of the stairs wedged into the surrounding pack. Yet even over that and up the stairs swarmed the insistent vendors of postal cards, coral and shell with their accompaniment of beggars. A group of physicians appeared at the rail and spread out over the upper platform of the gang-plank.

"Make way for the sick!" cried a sonorous voice.

There was a scuffle of nimble feet, a whisk of garments, a dash of oars and the water was vacant, the ship stood clear. A boat in their midst could not more suddenly have scattered than this fear of a contagious disease.

Then, below, out of the steerage entrance came a little brown Italian boy wrapped in a blanket, his round face slightly flushed by a slight attack of measles. He ran down the gang-plank, dove into the hospital boat and was rowed away.

A laugh and a sigh of relief went up from the watchers on the upper deck, and the baggage agent and our hotel porter sprang aboard. But there was yet an ordeal for us to pass, even though our dinner was waiting at the hotel. We too must pass quarantine.

Gathered in the salon, we waited. Sixteen southern girls, young and lovely, seated themselves in a row and strove to look solemn as the quarantine officers came in led by the captain and the ship's physicians. I fancy that even the eyes of those formal officials brightened at the sight of that row of sixteen, who had thriven mightily on the excellent fare and genial company of the voyage, and who now sat looking demurely beautiful in their traveling gowns. Only a

Cost of Paint

The difference between the cost of good paint and inferior paint is very little in comparison with the total outlay for painting a house.

The time and labor is the big item. Seems very foolish to spend a great deal of time and money putting on paint which will not last. It is much wiser to use old-fashioned "white lead and linseed oil."

Lewis is the standard white lead; is perfectly pure, and is made by the best method—the Old Dutch Process.

Paint pointers of value to the homeowner are found in our booklet. Send for it.

moment thus. The sarcasm of the situation struck everyone present. Sixteen red mouths broke into smiles, there was a faint giggle, then a gay burst of laughter, such as only American girls—real United States girls—indulge in—and the quarantine officers retreated. We had passed. Following out, the captain half closed the saloon door and turned back, sending quickly a parting jest.

"You see," he said, "we had to bring in help to decide the great question of this voyage: 'Which is the prettiest girl.'"

Later we filed down the disputed territory of the gang plank into the tender and steamed away to the shore and its importunate inhabitants, looking back longingly toward the white decks of the "Randisco" and the white clad group on the bridge who were waving us kindly adieus. We had exchanged the rest, the recreation and the carefully prepared entertainment of a most hospitable ocean steamer for the real rough and tumble of the travel before us. In the afterglow of the sunset we could see the faint green of olive groves and the color of distant gardens.

Before us was the strange Southern city with its glimpses of palms and magnolias; but alas! there was lying in wait for us as we now know, the perturbation cabman, the omnipresent dealer in corals and cameos—indeed the dealer in everything—besetting you like your dearest sinner with whom you must battle single handed and alone. No brown faced harbor pilot with his prompt grasp, no gentlemanly first mate with his rippling Italian and agile fist, and we landed like a stranger in a strange land, indeed.

Does one nation or tribe ever wholly sink itself in another is a question well answered in the present character of the population of Italy and its industrial development. The Neapolitans are a people apart. They came up from the South, and the Greek and the Latins have never yet become a Roman or a Lombard. Their characteristics and development are essentially different. Passing through Italy one can trace in town and country the origin of the inhabitants by their present environment. Vigor, industry and enterprise wait on the north and her people; but art, grace, music and that sense of beauty that in the more Northern folk, springs up into genius, is the birth right of the languid yet hot blooded Neapolitan. He is the creature of his own soft skies and calm seas, and thus will he remain, wedded to his own traditions. And to see him fully and at once in his own peculiar setting, one should go into the land of charm and beauty by the Bay of Naples—truly—the Golden Gate of Italy.

Twins Born in Different Years.

"I have often been present at the birth of twins," said an old nurse. "Only once was I present, though, when the twins were born in different years." "Twins born in different years? You are crazy," said the young bride. "Not a bit of it," said the old nurse. "The thing happened in Pittsburgh in 1893. The first twin was born at 11:30 o'clock on the night of Dec. 31, 1893, and the second was born at 1 o'clock in the morning of Jan. 1, 1900. There are, ma'am, a number of other cases recorded of twins born in different years."

The Cat Had Chickens.

The old housekeeper met the master at the door on his arrival home. "If you please, sir," she said, "the cat has had chickens." "Nonsense, Mary," laughed he. "You mean kittens. Cats don't have chickens." "Was them chickens or kittens as you brought home last night?" asked the old woman. "Why, they were chickens, of course." "Just so, sir," replied Mary, with a twinkle. "Well, the cat's had 'em!"

A Comprehensive Verdict.

A child in an English town was killed by a steam atomizing apparatus falling on it. The coroner's jury brought in the following curious verdict: "Death resulted from shock following bronchitis and whooping cough, caused through the shaking of the house by the firing of a gun at the government proof butts on the Palmstead marshes."

Raising His Wages.

"You know I told you a few days after he employed me that he said he'd raise my wages in a month or so?" "Yes, And didn't he?" "No, I misunderstood him. He said he'd try to raise my first week's wages by that time. I haven't had a shilling yet."—London Tit-Bits.

Companions.

"I have a little granddaughter," said a smother, "who is very fond of animals, especially dogs. Her mother has taught her to pronounce the word 'cat' it soon! Her father sticks to the word 'dog' and she never says 'cat' and now every cat is a grand-daughter."

Peevishness.

Peevishness may be considered the enemy of life that destroys its vigor and checks its improvement; that creeps on till it has nearly deplored and taints and vitiates what it cannot consume. —Edmund Spenser.

Probably.

Probably a woman would be a bride to her husband longer if she should continue making company of him. Most women begin to save their jam for visitors when they have been married three months.

Every age has its problems, by solving which humanity is helped forward.

ACHED IN EVERY BONE.

Chicago Society Woman Who Was So Sick She Could Not Sleep or Eat, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

When a woman's kidneys go wrong, her back gives out and every little task becomes a burden. She is tired, nervous, sleepless, run down—suffers daily from backache, headaches, dizzy spells, and bearing-down pains.

Don't worry over imagined "female troubles." Cure the kidneys and you will be well. Read how to find the cure.

Marion Knight, of 33 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., member of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and a well-known club woman, says: "This winter when I started to use Doan's Kidney Pills I ached in every bone and had intense pains in the kidneys and pelvic organs. The urine was thick and cloudy, and I could barely eat enough to live. I felt a change for the better within a week. The second week I began eating heartily. I began to improve generally, and before seven weeks had passed I was well. I had spent hundreds of dollars for medicine that did not help me, but 50 cents of Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to perfect health."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Miss Knight will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, 50 cents per box.

Plans for Firemen's Week.

Preparations for Firemen's Week have been going on with a will and will continue until completed. The decorations will be a four arch way in the Diamond and will be on large square pillars and covered with stucco or some material of same character and is expected to present a handsome appearance. Bunting will be on hand and will be able to be obtained of J. M. Warner at cost and a large lot of it will be put up. Arrangements are being made to put up strings of incandescent lights on Chambersburg street from Eagle to Square, to W. M. depot on Carlisle street, half a square on York street and up Baltimore street about a square. Beyond doubt the town will be more beautifully decorated than on any previous occasion.

Communications from State headquarters give assurance that the crowd will be very large. The town is prepared to exhaust every effort to give sleeping accommodations. They are urged to be prepared with eating accommodations. Every citizen so situated as to be able to furnish meals or things to eat it is said will have the opportunity of their lives to cater to the demand. Citizens contemplating doing this should make plans and preparations ahead. It may be too late when the crowd is here. The demand on Wednesday and Thursday will be the greatest.

State Senatorship.

Robert M. Stuart, Joseph Alexander and John S. Roth, Cumberland county Senatorial conferees came to Gettysburg yesterday morning, urging that a nomination for State Senator should be made. They were accompanied by R. E. Shearer, Dr. P. K. Foreman of Littlestown and D. B. Myers of Chambersburg were telephoned for, being with Charles S. Dunham, Adams county conferees. It was expected, when going to press, that if a conference could be completed a nomination would be made and that E. M. Biddle, Jr. of Carlisle would be the nominee.

Public Sale.
OF TWO VALUABLE FARMS
In the best farming district of Frederick Co. ON SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22ND, 1908, at 11 o'clock A. M., the undersigned will sell at public sale at Rocky Ridge Station, Frederick County, Md., the following two valuable farms.

First. All that tract of land, of which late Joshua Biggs died seized, situate at Rocky Ridge adjoining land of Michael Late, Elias Valentine, Harvey Ogle and others.

The improvements consist of a large black dwelling house, a large bank barn with silos under the same, a large supply of water, sheds. The farm now contains 366 acres, more or less, but will be divided so as to reduce the acreage and will be offered as an entirety or at the reduced acreage. Plans and other information will be furnished on application after the tenth day of September, 1908.

Second. All that valuable farm, adjoining the farm above described, containing 161 acres more or less, improved by a large stone dwelling, a large bank barn and all necessary outbuildings.

Both of the above farms are within convenient distance of post office, churches, school, express, telephone and telegraph offices. A stream flows through both farms giving them a large supply of water.

The land is in a high state of cultivation and the fences and buildings are in good order.

Terms of sale: one-third cash, the balance in 6 and 12 months, or all cash at the option of the purchaser. Special arrangements can be made with the vendors by which a proportion of the purchase money may be left in the properties secured by mortgages thereon.

Robert Biggs, James S. Biggs, David M. Biggs, Robert Biggs, Thos. J. Kolb, Auctioneer.

Executor's Sale
OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE
ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6TH, 1908, the undersigned, executor of the last will and testament of Basil Biggs, late of Gettysburg, Pa., deceased, will offer at public sale on the premises the following valuable real estate to wit:

All that certain tract of land, located along the Taneytown road, about three-fourths of a mile south of Gettysburg, adjoining land of S. M. Bushman on the East, Nelson P. Matthews on North and South, and U. S. Government lands on the West, containing 45 acres more or less. This is a part of the well known "Basil Biggs Farm" and is a most desirable property. There are about 12 acres of good timber in this tract right along the Taneytown road, good saw mill timber, consisting of white oak, hickory, etc., also a large granite stone quarry, formerly leased by Contractor Farrell, and the stone used for building above bridges, etc. This quarry is in easy reach from the road. This property also contains several fine sand quarries and the material is specially adapted for building purposes. About 35 acres of this tract are improved lands and in a good state of cultivation. Fine spring of water on property and running water. Fences in good condition. Look this property up and remember date of sale, for it is a most desirable piece of land.

Sale to begin at 1:30 p. m. For further information apply to

DR. WILLIAM BIGGS, Executor of Basil Biggs, deceased, or William Hersh, Esq., Attorney. James Caldwell, Auct.

The editor has been enjoying a ten days vacation by the sea. We are greatly indebted to Chas. E. Stable, Esq., and our entire force for having made the vacation possible.

TURN to the second page and read sketch of Mrs. Dr. Richard on "An Italy's Golden Gate," one of the most charming sketches ever printed in the COMPILER.

THE deception as to the cost of the new capitol at Harrisburg is one of the most nauseating tricks of the Machine. The people of this State have been led to believe they had a magnificent building at a cost of $4,000,000. Now the trick has been laid bare that the work of Building Commission was supplemented by the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings so that the total cost is about $10,000,000. The deception is unjustifiable, is suggestive of graft and should be resented at the polls. Machine deceivers should be retired. The people ought to vote themselves a square deal administration.

Property Sales.

Thus A. Miller, Assignee of John Homan, on last Friday sold the farm in Cumberland township to J. B. Wineman for $3,257.54 and on Saturday, the brick house on Baltimore Street to Mrs. Mary Peffer for $400 and the 14 acres of land in south eastern part of the town to Mrs. Amanda Homan for $1,500.

John Fisel of this place has sold his farm in Mt. Joy township along the Baltimore pike of 105 acres to Charles Rudisill for $400.

The real estate of B. Frank Lerew, deceased was sold at public sale as follows: the home farm of 111 acres to Mrs. Maggie Lerew for $4000, the lower farm of 100 acres to P. E. Brough for $26 an acre, the timberland for $675 and the property at the Grove Church for $500.

John McKonley has sold his York

Stings property to Marks Bream of Huntington township, who takes possession April 1st, when Mr. McKonley will move to Hanover.

Clerk of the Court H. C. Walters has sold his dwelling home in Biglerville to Amos Bream of Huntington township and will move to Gettysburg about October 1st.

The farm of the late Mrs. Polly Harbold, near Hampton was sold at public sale to John Nicley, of Hampton, for $1,800.

W. Denton Myers of East Berlin has sold his property in Hampton with 5 acres of farm land to K. W. Rickrode for $1,800.

Amos Rinehart of York has sold his East Berlin property with several acres of land to Samuel Alland for $1,500.

The East Berlin National Bank has bought the property of Dr. H. B. Doechst adjoining the Reformed church and it is said will erect on the site next year a modern banking house and dwelling.

Letter to Martin Winter.

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: Our agent ought to sell nine-tenths of the paint of his town and region; no use to try for the other tenth. The proportion of men who won't take good advice, and use the least-gallons paint, is about one in ten among even owners of houses and stores and shops and barns and fences.

One man in ten will buy a gold brick or green goods, if he has the money and gets a good chance.

Devoc at $1.75 a gallon is better than gold; adulterated and short-measure paints are green goods and gold bricks. Devoc saves half, more or less, of the labor and wages of painting; it is all paint; full strength and full measure. There is no other such paint within ten per cent. Ten percent of labor and paint is worth saving; and ten is the least. There are scores of paints that throw away half of both gallons and labor on whitening and china-clay, ground stone, barytes, benzine, water—all they are good for is to make gallons of nothing and look like paint in the can; more gallons to buy and more gallons to pay for putting on—gold bricks and green goods. Here's how they work.

Judge I D Fairchild owns two houses exactly alike in Lufkin, Texas. J H Torrence painted both houses; one Devoc, 15 1-2 gallons; the other with another sold at same price: 25 gallons. That 15 gallon paint is weak and 15 per cent whitening; that's why it took 9 1-2 gallons more.

Yours truly

F. W. Devoc & Co.

Conferees Selected.

At a meeting of the officers of the late Democratic County Convention at the Globe Hotel last week, Chas. S. Duncan, Esq. of this place, Dr. E. K. Foreman of Littlestown and D. B. Myers of Gardner's Station were selected as Senatorial Conferees to meet a like number from Cumberland county to nominate a candidate for the State Senate in the event of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, declaring the Senatorial apportionment bill of last session invalid.

Adams County Horses.

Adams county horses for some years have made a good showing at the Hanover Fair and this year proved no exception.

Four horses were entered in the races. From the Buttonwood Stock Farm, Precurs r and B. B. Edgar C. Tawney entered Standard Prince and J. E. Richter of Baltimore, Colonel.

Bell, of the Buttonwood Stock farm earned off the purse of $500 in the 2 27 class race in three straight heats. Time being 2:20 1/4, 2:27 1/4 and 2:27 1/4.

ALLEMAN'S STORE NEWS

This is the season of the year when the housewife is looking for delicacies and "ready-to-serve" articles that will save the heat and discomfort of the cooking. It is not difficult for you to find such articles in our store, as well as the appetite-ticklers that delight the soul of the picnicker and camper, as we have made a special effort this season to purchase only goods that are guaranteed to be absolutely pure and free from all adulterations.

Olives

We have the choicest lot of Olives we ever had, and although Olives are advancing right along on account of scarcity of crops and increased demand, yet we are selling more than we ever did, which is due to the fact that we handle only the choicest grade, the Premier and Nabob brands. We have them from 15 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

Imported Sardines

We have something new in Norwegian Sardines in oil—smoked—which impart a most delicious flavor to them, unknown in plain Sardines in oil. Try a box at 15 cents and you cannot fail to be pleased.

Royal Mint Sauce

35 cents per bottle. All that is necessary in the use of this Sauce is to pour a spoonful or two into a glass of crushed ice, fill the glass with water and sweeten to taste, and you have a most delightful and healthful summer beverage.

Teas

Some one asked at our counter one day for "Iced Tea." We did not have any "Iced Tea" but we did not turn the customer away empty-handed. We sold him a package of one of our choice grades of Tea which we handle in 1-4 lb. and 1-2 lb. packages, any one of which will make a most delicious "Iced Tea." We handle only Chase & Sanborn's Choice Teas in tin boxes, sealed, which insures the customer all the flavor contained in the original package. Our customers who have tried these Teas do not ask us for "Loose Tea" any more and would not take it if we were to offer it to them.

Picnic Supplies

Now don't forget in ordering your Supplies for a Picnic or Camp that we have just what you want. A nice lot of National Biscuit package goods just fresh, 30c. worth for 25c., any size packages. Choice Pickles in bottles or by the dozen. Columbia River or Alaska Salmon, Peanut Butter, Fresh Cream Cheese, Imported and Domestic Sweitzer.

Bargains in Queensware Dept.

We are crowded for space on our second floor and must dispose of some of the more bulky articles, so we are offering all our Clothes Hampers, Sewing Baskets, Music Racks and Waste Paper Baskets at a reduction of 20 per cent. These are all new goods and this is a good opportunity to purchase any of these useful articles, as they are goods which rarely ever appear on our cut-price list.

Croquet Sets Reduced

We have a few that we do not want to carry over the season and we will give our customers this opportunity to purchase them at a remarkably low price. We only have a few sets and they will not stay with us long at the new price.

Dinner Ware

Reductions on a stock pattern of White and Gold Porcelain Dinner Ware. We have almost any piece needed for a Dinner assortment but as we do not intend to fill up the stock on this pattern we are selling it at a big reduction on account of being short a few pieces. We have a number of other bargains in this Department and always have something new and attractive.

FERTILIZERS

We are agents for Armour's Fertilizers. These goods are so well known that they need no recommendation.

POTATO DIGGERS

Buy a Potato Digger if you have a crop of potatoes. It will save you time in taking up your crop and "time is money," so you will more than save the price of the digger in time and labor saved.

CIDER MILLS

We have Cider Mills and Presses and Wine Presses. Call and see them and get our prices before buying elsewhere.

Also 2-Row Corn Cutters and Corn Binders.

A PRESENT FOR THE CHILDREN.—SCHOOL SUPPLIES

This year more than ever before we will be headquarters for School Supplies. Tablets, Pencils, Companions, Slates, Composition Books, Spelling Tablets, Book Bags, and everything the children need. We have a present here for every boy or girl who buys either 5c or 10c worth of School Supplies. Something useful. Special prices to School Boards.

GORDON FLAYS BOSSES
sion when it refuses to strive for a quintan victory that would faster chains on honorable foes. Democrats must stand for liberty first and always.
Partisanship will be a helpful manifestation of public spirit when it cease
to be an asset by which the boss maintains his power.

"Political bosses are never patriots.
They preach partisanship to their followers, but themselves practice the most miscellaneous filthiness. They are professed monarchists, but practice democracy. The politics of a boss and a corporation are the same. An insistible affinity for the party in power
and an inveterate hostility to unrepresented minorities.

Rests With Independents.

"The hope of the coming campaign
lies in the fact that a united Democracy
will bring more than 400,000 votes to the ticket. It now rests with the independent Republicans who love democracy more than dishonor, righteou-
ness more than regularity, to say whether they will lift up their party
out of its degradation and the stain
of its shame.

"Fortunately, the issue in the campaign will not be obscured by diverting personalities. The Republican Machine has placed a ticket in the field
composed of gentlemen of unimpeach-
able personal character. It is due to them to say that their defeat will be a reflection on their personal fame.

"The Machine platform, likewise, is in the main unexceptionable. Every vital line of it, however, is a recantation
and repudiation of its past. But will
the independent voter trust the reform
cause to the defiant bosses who have made the reforms necessary?

"Would a corrupt and criminal combination masquerading as 'Republicans' be any more trustworthy when masquerading as 'reformers'? Is it safe to continue the reins of political power in the hands of those who have used that power to create the monstrous abuses against which the reform is now in arms?

"The Machine in Pennsylvania has not been whipped into abdication, but only frightened into false pretense. It retains power and only surrenders promises.

"Some malignant growths are so
deep-seated that the only hope of life is the surgeon's knife. But you can not expect the cancer to operate or retire. Neither can you expect the Machine to commit suicide.

"Remedies to be effective must be applied with a view to the duration and extent of the disease. When Hercules undertook to clean the Augean Stables
he did not use a lace handkerchief, but turned the bed of a river upon the foul mass and washed the festering
filth into the sea. Only Hercules
methods will serve for the disinfecting
of the Pennsylvania political Machine.

"When a political boss or his Machine is in danger he immediately turns
reformist—that is, he writes reform platforms. The greater his danger and the more manifest his guilt and wickedness, the more radical will be his reform professions. The father of the present Republican Machine often successfully played this ruse to save himself from disaster.

"Greater Than Clay Or Webster."
"He was the greatest of all reform
verbalists—greater than Webster, or Clay, or Roosevelt.

"So the platform on which the present Machine candidates stand is loaded
with sound doctrine and reform promises. It is especially radical in its declaration of the wrongs of railroad corporations. This from those who now have been the most servile
tools of all corporations is sardonically
insinuating.

"It raises the question whether the real and vital reform of Mr. Cassatt in abolishing all free passes is not thus countered by threats of reprisals on the part of Machine lackeys deprived of a chief source of their power and means of corruption. There is no such radical even in the ranks of anarchy
as an exposed boss who sees his opportunities for plunder slipping from his grasp.

"No candidate is better or stronger
than the cause he represents, and no Machine candidate can possess such an excess of virtue in himself as to atone
for the vicious system of which he is the chosen exponent.

"Men of ordinary attainments have
often served the state well as representatives of a worthy cause or system,
but good men who have been put forward to save and shield an evil organization from defeat have never done
above their environment. The Machine suffices after a fashion the responsible character of which it masquerades during the campaign.

"How can a candidate whose criminality prevents him from denouncing a corrupt Machine hope to win be expected to reproduce it after it has placed him in office? That would be to play
a better game on his opponents, which is inconsistent with real ability.

"If, as the Scriptures say, a gift
could blind the eyes of the wise and pervert the words of the righteous, even so does a Machine nomination close
the lips of the respectable and stifle
the wrath of the virtuous.

"Candidates should fit the issues, and illustrate the times. Great emergencies in the state cannot be adequately
met by halting timidity and decorous
timidity.

His Worthy of Mention.

cal leader, whose advice he sought and
followed in matters of legislation.
"In a short time the commonwealth
was aflame with revelations of organized corruption in city and state, the office of the 'potent political leader'
was under investigation for crooked-
ness and graft, and he conveniently
resigned his office, while suits to recover millions of illicit gain have been filed against him by the attorney general and by the mayor of Philadelphia.

"Do the people in the present publicized emergency desire another government installed at Harrisburg who can sell
him in the state 'worthy of mention'?
Such a candidate does not fit the issues or meet the requirements of the times.

"When King James was reproached
by George Heriot, bishop of the dishonorable source from which he obtained certain financial aid, the king
raised one of the sovereigns to his nose
and mockingly told the scrupulous Scottishman that the coin did not smell
of its origin.

"So, too, the modern political boss
does not believe in the existence of tainted money. He will pinch a railroad, blackmail a trust, steal municipal franchises or levy tribute on a bawdy house with indiscriminate impartiality. Money to him has neither smell nor politics.

"It is the shame of Pennsylvania that
she has been the home of the most corrupt and tyrannical political Machine
in the country. Let her make it her boast that when the opportunity presented she tore it out by the roots and destroyed its power forever as an example to the nation.

"Down with the criminal Machine!
Patriotism before party! These alone are the issues, and the Democracy of Pennsylvania takes its honest Republican brothers by the hand and in a pact of non-partisanship proclaims the Truce of God."

The Under Side of Fish.
Experiments have been made with founders in order to determine whether the whiteness of the under sides of those fish is due to the exclusion of light, and the presence of color on their upper sides to exposure to light. The fish experimented upon were kept living in a glass tank, having a mirror
placed beneath, so as to reflect light
upon the under sides of the fish. One of these prisoners survived for three years under conditions so strangely different from its ordinary habits of life,
and all of them exhibited the development of spots of pigment on their lower surfaces. The experimenters concluded that it is exposure to light that causes the coloration of the upper
parts of the bodies, not only of founders, but of other fish, and, conversely,
that it is to the comparative absence
of light that the whiteness of under sides of fish is due. They extend the same principle to explain the colorless
condition of the skins of many animals
that pass all their lives in caves.

Bird Songs.
Naturalists have long been puzzled
as to how birds learn to sing. Does it come natural to a bird of a certain species to sing the song common to its kind or does it learn to imitate whatever song it most hears during the early days of its life? Experiments
made by a well known student of bird
life proved that most birds simply learn
by imitation. He placed young linnets
to be reared by skylarks, woodlarks,
thrushes and other breeds, and in every case the linnets learned the song of his foster parents. Again, a number of lin-
nets were reared where they had no chance of hearing the song of any bird at all. In due course they began to sing, but their song was entirely original. The cuckoo, however, seems to be an exception, for although it is almost invariably reared by foster
parents of our species but its own
is always that of perfection its own peculiar song quite unimpaired by
the vocal efforts of its guardians.

Origin of the Strike Fund.
The earliest mention of a strike fund
occurred in the strike of the Parisian stocking weavers in 1724, when a crown day was subscribed for every
striker and all idlers were mercilessly
boycotted. But the largest strike
under the "strike fund" was that of the silk factory hands at Lyons
in 1744, when 12,000 men went on strike and so alarmed the magistrates
that he canceled everything they asked
wrote to his brother that he had "the casseuse par cette vile canaille."
The "vile canaille," however, had their women, and it was no longer
doctors. Two months later the king sent down 10,000 soldiers from the metre France came to Grenoble deliver," and we hear a lot of strikes
of the supreme strike of 1789.

Jack Tar, Humorist.
There's never any real what our theaters will do and what for a man? A number of men may be looking for a look at the sea and a lot of them will walk away. They saw a man walking on the beach and he had a bag in his hand. He was the "tar" in a jiffy. He was the boy out of her arms and he was at full speed toward the Great Northern railway. For a moment the astonished mother stood in bewilderment. She then raised an alarm and ran screaming after the blackguard.
He was joined by others, who seemed to appreciate the joke immensely. The whole body rushed through street after street, the mother still pursuing. In Ferryway street the "tar" halted,
dashed into a shop, bought a perambulator,
placed the child in it and retraced
their steps at a rattling pace until they met the infuriated mother. They then pulled up, quieted her fears and handed her over her child in the handsome new perambulator, which she whisked off in pride and triumph, the childless mother cheering—London

ONE MAN'S IDOL
(Original.)
Many years ago in Madrid there lived
a grandee, Don Rodrigo de Sandoval.
His house was on a little square, or rather court, in the center of which was a fountain with a cup where any one might quench his thirst. Don Rodrigo had married a girl very much younger than himself and set her up on a pedestal
as his mother had placed a crucifix
on her dressing table, to worship. Signora de Sandoval while she at first
found it pleasant to be thus adored,
especially since adoration brought with
it every comfort, soon found it tiresome.
Her husband devoted but a brief
time to affairs of state, he being one of the king's cabinet. The rest of the time the young wife spent alone, and it did not occur to the husband that the time would hang heavy on her hands
or that she would crave society, especially of the opposite sex. Did she not have servants at her beck and call, the finest apparel to wear, the most savory dishes upon her table? What more could any woman need?

One night when Don Rodrigo was returning from the palace where he had been in conference with the king, just before entering the court in which he lived he stopped short and fastened his eyes on a scene before him. A young man stood at the fountain holding the cup in his hand and looking up at the balcony projecting from the second floor of Don Rodrigo's house. Just within a window opening on to the balcony fluttered a handkerchief, while the young man was making signs with the cup. His back was toward De Sandovál, so that he could not be recognized.

The husband watched this pantomime
in a sort of stupor. He could not have been more thunderstruck had he seen an angel from heaven alight on the fountain and pour nectar upon the waters. That the being he had worshiped could thus dishonor him filled him with agony. While he looked he saw a fan
wafted frantically from within the window and the man drinking at the fountain dropped the cup and walked rapidly away. Don Rodrigo, awakening from his stupor, followed, but the stranger had only a short distance to go to turn a corner, and by the time
Sandoval reached it the man he sought
was nowhere to be seen.

Don Rodrigo went to his house,
kissed his wife (she noticed that his lips were cold as ice), and went to bed.
He did not accuse her nor ask the name of the young man who had been making signs at her window. From that time his manner toward her was changed, though no one except herself noticed it. She was allowed the same
privileges, enjoyed the same comforts,
but somehow she felt that she lived in the shadow of death.

A few weeks after the episode that had such a marked effect upon Rodrigo he was coming home late at night when he saw a man drinking at the fountain. Advancing, he knocked the cup from the stranger's hand. The man turned, hot at the insult, and seeing one worthy of his steel drew his rapier and attacked the insulted. Sandovál drew and defended himself, casting from time to time an eye on his wife's window. All was dark there,
and in time he called a halt in the fight, apologized for the insult, refilled
the cup and offered it to the stranger.
The latter, puzzled, drank and went away.

After that on numerous occasions—
always at the dead of night—some
stranger stopping to quench his thirst
at the fountain would report in the morning that the cup had been knocked
from his hand and, sometimes after a fight, the stranger had apologized and proffered a full cup. The police seemed singularly apathetic about the matter,
not even taking pains to watch the fountain. Thus it became the belief that the person who gave these insults
was high in favor of the government.

One night a man entered the palace
and, seeing another at the fountain,
withdrew under the shadow of a flight
of steps. While the man at the fountain was drinking a third figure approached and knocked the cup out of the drinker's hand.

"What means this insult?" asked the
man attacked.

At that moment a plimmer of white
appeared on the balcony of Don Ro-drigo's house. Rodrigo saw it in an instant.

"It is one that I have at last found
the man I have been so long looking for," said he.

The stranger dashed, but before the man from whom it was intended had time to draw his sword and stoop, Sandoval had been before him and stood,
sword in hand, before him.

"You have married a girl," he said,
"I have never been nearer. She is pure
as marble. Go and continue the worship which all you found me here you bestowed upon her, for she is worthy
of it."

The reply to this was a lunge on the part of Don Rodrigo and a shriek
from the balcony. The stranger caught the blade on his own steel and replied in kind. In a few minutes
Don Rodrigo de Sandoval lay
stretched upon the pavement.

"You made an idol of your wife,"
said the stranger, sheathing his rapier.
"I have made a widow of her."
A year later Signora de Sandoval
married the man who made her a widow and became one of the most attractive of all the dames of the capital. From being worshipped by one man she was worshipped by a whole city.
BLANCHE J. CARNES.

THE PROBLEM OF FARMING

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY J. J. HILL

President of the Great Northern Railway at St. Paul Minnesota.

The following is an editorial from the Baltimore Sun.

The season of county fairs has arrived and Timonium has many attractions for intelligent persons who appreciate exhibits of local agricultural products as object lessons of progressive industry. The extent and variety of our actual production of grain, fruit, vegetables and stock are such as to arrest the attention of the least observant, but by no means what they should be and will be when the American people betake themselves to scientific farming. The utility of county fairs lies in this very point, that they excite men's minds to a due appreciation of the possibilities of intelligently directed agriculture.

This truth was emphasized at a recent opening at St. Paul of the Minnesota State Fair Association, in an address delivered by J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway, on a necessity of an improved cultivation of the soil. We have done a good deal in this country in the field of agriculture quantitatively, owing to the natural fertility of our land, but qualitatively our agriculture is too often poor. We must look to England for the heaviest crop of grain per acre and for improved breeds of farm animals. "Agriculture," says Mr. Hill, "in the most intelligent meaning of the term, is something almost unknown in the United States. We have a light scratching of the soil and the gathering of all that it can be made to yield by the most rapidly exhaustive methods. On the new lands of the West, where once the wheat yield was from 20 to 30 bushels an acre, it is now from 12 to 18."

What we need, it is held, is to realize our dependence upon the soil and with a view to its better cultivation. By applying modern knowledge and enlisting education in the business of farming, we must cause the word "farmer" to be a synonym for the highest intelligence. Genius has hitherto applied itself chiefly to mechanical appliances and commerce, but it needs to be drawn back to the farm. Our civilization, Mr. Hill thinks, still clings to the great cities. It is the duty of the hour to domicile it on the land. Labor is to be attracted from the slums to the fields. We have more than 1,000,000 immigrants yearly, yet outside the cities labor is scarce and the wages are abnormally high. "The farms stretch forth their hands in vain for workers, and a large proportion of this year's magnificent crop will be reduced in quality or lost for want of labor to handle it."

More laborers are needed on the soil upon which year by year increased demands will be made. Within 20 years we shall have, Mr. Hill estimates, 50,000,000 of additional population to house and feed, and by 1950 our population will be more than 200,000,000. By a more intelligent agriculture Belgium produces food enough for 490 persons to the square mile. At this rate of production the 414,458,487 acres of improved land in the United States would support in comfort 317,550,495 persons and produce a surplus for export. If the capacity of lands now unimproved be included in the calculation, our total of $38,591,774 acres would support easily 642,046,823 persons. But they will hardly do so with present methods of farming. It will require an intelligent system of farming to attain the large figures just mentioned, but by no means all the resources of science.

In any case, methods must be improved to meet the needs of the rapidly growing population of the country. A word of warning is required. Some change of the country's ideals. Mr. Hill suggests, is needed to attain the desired results. "There must be," he says, "a national revolt against the worship of manufacture and trade as the only forms of progressive activity and the false notion that wealth built upon these at the sacrifice of the fundamental form of wealth production can endure. A clear recognition on the part of the whole people, from the highest down to the lowest, that the tillage of the soil is the natural and most desirable occupation for man, to which every other is subsidiary and to which all else must in the end yield, is the first requisite."

Farm Values

We take the following from the Youth's Companion of a recent date. Since the year 1890 the value of the farm land in the United States has increased thirty-eight and one-half per cent, including improvements. The South Central group of states shows the largest increase, over forty per cent, and close after that comes the Western group, also with an increase of a trifle more than forty per cent. The South Atlantic group has gained thirty-six per cent; but the oldest of the farming states, the North Atlantic group, have advanced only thirteen and a half per cent.

For the gains which have taken place, the crop reporters assign more than one hundred reasons, some of which are general and of national effect, and others, of course, purely local. Among the general national influences are: (1) the states of good crop years, (2) the general increase in population, (3) the general increase in the demand for food, (4) the general increase in the value of land, (5) the general increase in the value of improvements, (6) the general increase in the value of farm buildings, (7) the general increase in the value of farm machinery, (8) the general increase in the value of farm stock, (9) the general increase in the value of farm labor, (10) the general increase in the value of farm land.

interest, which has induced capital to seek farm lands as investments. From these years of good crops and central agricultural prosperity has risen a better type of farmer, a man who lives on a more generous scale, reads more, travels more, gives his children greater opportunities, and holds his head higher in the community. The farmer has been emancipated. He is economically independent, and as he prospers, so prospers the country.

THE Federal Court at Pittsburg has stopped the Sheriff's sale of the Meyersdale Sheet Steel Works and a receiver may be appointed.

A bath cleanses the skin and rids the pores of refuse. A bath makes for better fellowship and citizenship. Not only should the outside of the body be cleansed, but occasional use of a laxative or cathartic opens the bowels and cleans the system of effete matter. Best for this are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Pleasant little pills that do not gripe or sicken. Sold by L. M. Buehler.

THE Carlisle Civic Club provides a trained nurse for patients who cannot afford to pay for the entire time attendance may be required. During August the nurse made more than 100 visits and was in service in 17 families.

When two strong men come to blows, even if they are well matched, it is not a pleasing sight, but if the man who gets the worst of it will use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, he will look better and feel better in short order. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Good for everything a salve is used for, including piles. Sold by L. M. Buehler.

CARDUCCI is shaken from center to circumference by the letter sent by Chief Factory Inspector Delaney to State Health Commissioner Dixon concerning the lack of sewerage facilities in the old borough. Old logies oppose expensive drainage.

Good for the cough, removes the cold, the cause of the cough. That's the work of Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar—the original laxative cough syrup. Contains no opiates. Sold by L. M. Buehler.

A neglected cough or cold may lead to serious bronchial or lung troubles. Don't take chances when Foley's Honey and Tar affords perfect security from serious effects of a cold. The Peoples Drug Store.

A Bellevue Hospital physician says that at least ten men a year die in New York from "razor poisoning." Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. J. NUSBAUM, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package, and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." The Peoples Drug Store.

An Insidious Danger.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. The Peoples Drug Store.

The population of Greater London is today 7,113,000, half a million more in five years.

A Lesson in Health.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. The Peoples Drug Store.

administer the affairs of the auditor general's department of Pennsylvania can do his part in running the cumbersome tax machine as it is set up, but he is not a careful man who will not make a thorough examination and an overhauling of the machinery with a view to suggesting legitimate repairs.

"The first consideration of a citizen who has been deputized by the people to fill a state office is their interests."

"The unequal and excessive burdens of taxation justify one who would become a finance officer of the state to safely and rightfully subscribe to the proposition in this reform fight, which says:

"We repeal our demands for equalization, and recommend that the large surplus of the people's taxes remaining in the state treasury from year to year be applied to the reduction of taxes for the support of the common schools levied in the several school districts of the state, and to improvement of township roads, and that the revenue derived by the state from licenses and personal property be retained by the several counties in which they are raised."

"Your candidate for auditor general in accepting this nomination, if called to the office by the vote of the people, promises a 'square deal' to all, and will devote his best energies and abilities to administering the office faithfully and honestly for the best interests of the state, which are the best interests of the people."

Always Gives Satisfaction.

What better recommendation can an article have than to say it always gives satisfaction.

We asked Mrs. C. D. Root of East Concord, Vt. to write us what she thought of Down's Elixir and she wrote:

"Down's Elixir is good and always gives satisfaction." What more could be said. Everybody knows that Down's Elixir is a cough remedy and is recommended for croup, whooping cough and all lung troubles. Down's Elixir has cured consumption and will do it again.

THE American Anti-Trust League in New York has announced that it favors William Sulzer for Governor of that State.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT.

The People's Drug Store Say They Have at Last Discovered a positive Cure for Indigestion

"For years," said a member of the above drug firm, "we have been waiting for some one to discover a remedy that really will cure dyspepsia."

"We recently learned that a new remedy, Pepsikola Tablets, had been placed on the market, and on investigation we found that at last there is a remedy that surely will cure."

"We laid in a big supply because we knew that as soon as the people began to know about this remarkable remedy, there would be a big demand for it, and it is selling beyond our expectations."

It is not often a druggist sells a new remedy on a positive guarantee, but unless cured of nervousness, dizzy spells, sour stomach, coated tongue, palpitation and other symptoms of dyspepsia, The People's Drug Store will hand back your money cheerfully and without argument.

No one should hesitate on trying a 25-cent box of Pepsikola Tablets, as they will not cost you a penny should they fail to relieve and cure the very worst case of indigestion and dyspepsia.
